What is the matter with the new iron bridge that was to have been completed across the river by the last of this month. Not a sign of it up to this time and the days for its erection are growing very few.

As far as we can learn the bird hunters of this section are only meeting with tolerable luck. Rabbits which were fairly plentiful in the beginning of the season are also growing scarce, and to get anything like a good bag of game necessitates a wide ramble and a hard day's work.

How to save money is a problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to investigate the system with Ayer's hair preparations. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five.

It is no easy thing to dress harsh, coarse hair so as to make it look graceful or becoming. By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, this difficulty is removed, and the hair made to assume any style or arrangement that may be desired. Give the Vigor a trial.

Opening of holiday stock at Schmitt's latter part of next week.

Died at Atwell, Pike county, Indiana, October 4th, 1892, Jacob R. Hudson, aged 61 years, 3 months and 15 days. Mr. Hudson was formerly of Shenandoah county, and was a brother of Mrs. J. W. Hottel, Mrs. Fred. Lucas and Mr. Thomas Hudson, of this county.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Geo. Allen, of Roanoke, is visiting his mother, Mrs. H. C. Allen, in this place.

Mr. S. S. Turner and wife of Front Royal, are visiting Mrs. Turner's mother, Mrs. Mark Bird, Sen. of this place.

Rev. J. R. Stump and family returned to their home in this place on Saturday last, from a pleasant visit of several weeks with friends in Moorefield, W. Va.

Messrs. B. F. Coffelt, Henry Windle and John Poller, the veteran hunters of Fairview, took advantage of the snow fall of last week to kill nine wild turkeys on last Friday on Little North Mountain.

Mark Few, of this place, now employed on the R. F. & P. R. R., had several of his fingers badly mashed while coupling cars at Washington, D. C., a few days ago.

Mr. Paul Rinker, of Powell's Fort, assisted by a young man by the name of Funk, killed a large bear on Friday last week. We are informed that these parties saw five of these animals the same day.

We are informed that Mr. Frank Sheetz, engineer at Mr. M. V. French's Steam Mill, in this place, was slightly hurt about the face, one day this week, by something about the cylinder of the engine blowing out and striking him.

We are informed that Mr. Tite Lindamood, of this place, was pretty liberally sprinkled in the back with shot by a brother hunter, in Powell's Fort, one day last week. We are told that a young Mr. Lichliter mistook Mr. Lindamood for a wild turkey. Fortunately the gun did not shoot very hard, and beyond a "most emphatic" stinging sensation no harm was done.

An enjoyable occasion was a family reunion and celebration of the 80th birthday of Mrs. Mark Bird, at her residence in this place on Thursday. Among those present were Messrs. I. Hite Bird, Elton B. Bird, and Mark Bird, sons, Mrs. Kenner Stephenson, Mrs. W. T. Williams, Mrs. S. S. Turner, and Miss Annie Bird, daughter, and Messrs. S. S. Turner and W. T. Williams, sons-in-law, and Mrs. I. Hite Bird, daughter-in-law, and a number of grand-children, of Mrs. Bird. This venerable and highly esteemed lady is in remarkably good health for her advanced age, and it is hoped that she may celebrate many more returns of the day.

In autumn, winter and spring, colds are the rule rather than the exception. Hence it is the part of every wise and prudent mother to keep on hand a supply of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the great domestic favorite and infallible cure for all affections of the throat and chest.

A walk around town will convince you that many of our foot and other bridges are a credit to our town council. There are still some improvements that are needed, but we can't expect everything at once, besides it is not fair to whip a willing horse.

Quick and sure! One third of a bottle cures neuralgia and backache—Mr. W. H. Gill, Byersville, Germany Co., O., writes: "I had a severe attack of neuralgia and pains in my back and shoulders, and after using one-third of a bottle of Salvation Oil I was able to go to work."

Examine the line of rubber dressing coats at B. Schmitt's. Bought at the factory and sold at corresponding prices.

Thomas Clay, living near Bentonville, Page county, while crossing the river near that place in a boat, attempted to draw his gun toward him. The hammer caught under the seat of the boat, by which means it was discharged, and the entire load entered under Clay's right ear, killing him instantly.

Rubber is said to be high now, yet you would think it low if you priced rubber dressing coats at Schmitt's.

A number of beautiful stained glass memorial windows will be put in the Presbyterian church here. These with the extensive alterations and other improvements will make this one of the handsomest and most attractive houses of worship in this section. The churches of Woodstock generally are a credit to the town and invariably elicit favorable comment from visitors.

THE HONORABLE FRIENDS.—The superior draft collars sold by J. H. Grubill, Court street, Woodstock, Va., demonstrates the fact that he is the horse's true friend. If you have never tried one, you are certainly behind the times.

If you want a post-office one you have to do so to file your petition with Col. C. T. O'Ferrall. Applications are pouring into him by every mail. Everybody in Strasburg wants the post-office but one man, and he wants it too. Edinburg has any number of applicants for the office in that place, while the woods are full of patriots after the good fat post-office at Woodstock. We suppose applications are already in for all the other offices in the country and then some.

On Monday night Mrs. Calvin Sheetz, who resides on Narrow Passage, a few miles from this place, became alarmed at the noise of what he best on her porch, and called to her neighbors, it being a very thickly settled section. Mr. Isaiah Kibler took his lantern and went to the scene of the trouble. The bear, as it proved to be, had become frightened and left. Its track was followed to a corn shock about fifty yards from the house, where it had been heard the night before. Here the tracks were thick showing that the bear had been there for some hours, but had left for other quarters.

A little daughter of Mr. Chas. Clem, of this place, fell from the scaffolding in the Presbyterian church, one day last week, and was badly hurt. The scaffold was erected for the purpose of tearing out the ceiling, and is about fourteen feet high. The child, which is about three or four years old, got upon the scaffold by means of the gallery stairs without being seen. It was at first feared the injury would prove fatal, as the little one was unconscious for several days, but it is improving rapidly at this time and will doubtless soon be none the worse for its dangerous experience.

The Democrats of this county will celebrate their victory of Nov. 8th, at New Market and Mt. Jackson on Friday (Friday) evening, and the week will wind up with a big illumination and torch light procession at Woodstock on Saturday night. If the weather proves favorable there will doubtless be a big turn out, especially at Woodstock—We learn that none of the banners or transparencies will contain anything offensive to the opposite side, or in fact to any one, as it is intended that everybody shall enjoy the evening—Strasburg will celebrate on Wednesday night, Nov. 23rd, and will no doubt have a fine parade and a good time generally.

John W. Rodeffer Found Dead.

The people of this place were greatly shocked on Friday last upon hearing that Mr. John W. Rodeffer, an old and well-known citizen, had been found dead in a ditch along side the railroad track, in the mouth of the cut near the south end of town. The unfortunate man was found stiff and cold in death with his forehead crushed and the skull otherwise badly fractured. Many persons thought from the position of the body that he could not have been killed by a train but was the victim of foul play. Justice Jno. H. Grubill, acting coroner, had the following jury summoned: Chas. Fogle, A. S. Parker, Milton Boyer, William Hite, Joseph Keller and Daniel Luchter. After hearing the testimony of a number of witnesses, and also that of the following physicians, A. P. Belov, J. L. Campbell, H. H. Irwin and Thompson, they brought in a verdict that John W. Rodeffer came to his death by being struck by a passing train.

Mr. Rodeffer, whose age was about 55 years, was a native of this place. He was an industrious, honorable and kindly hearted man. He served through the war as a member of Chew's celebrated Battery of horse artillery, where he earned the reputation of a brave soldier.

He leaves a wife and a number of small children. His funeral took place on Sunday and was largely attended.

It Would be Inexpedient.

THEREFORE THE FAIR DIRECTORS WOULD NOT CLOSE ON SUNDAY.

At the regular meeting of the World's Fair Directors in Chicago last week a resolution was adopted favoring the opening of the gates on Sunday, provided that the machinery be not run.

The Directors say that as all the nations of the earth have been invited to attend the Fair, it would be highly disconcerted and inhospitable to inform them that they cannot do so on Sunday what they would do were they at home.

"The closing of the gates on Sunday," says the resolution, "means that thousands of artists and merchants to whom the exhibition will be of inestimable advantage, will not be able to attend it."

The Directors say they are in favor of allowing every nation to hold within the grounds such religious services as it may desire on Sunday. They also think it desirable that the gates should be opened to allow visitors from different portions of the union to meet socially at their State buildings.

To Merchants and Business Men.

The fall is now upon us, and soon the chilling blasts of winter will be felt on all sides, and yet our enterprising merchants have not told the public the many comfortable things they have in store for sale through their weekly medium. It is too dull to advertise—it don't pay, say you. That's just the reason it is dull, and that's just the reason it don't pay—you don't tell the people what you have for sale—you wait for them to come and inquire. There is nothing like a bait; you can't catch fish without a bait, no more can you entice people into your store without advertising. You have abundance of evidence of this every day in the Baltimore papers. Nine-tenths of all the women that do their buying in Baltimore are drawn there by the flattering advertising of the merchants—much of which might be kept at home if some of our merchants would do a little advertising in the HERALD, a paper which reaches purchasers, and always shows a good return.

Thirteen Thirties.

The discovery has been made that on one side of the new quarter dollar there are thirteen separate representations of the number thirteen. It was probably the intention of the designer of the new quarter to have thirteen occur thirteen times, but there are few people who have noticed this fact. There are 13 stars, 13 letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak, 13 marginal feathers in each wing, 13 tail feathers in each wing, 13 parallel lines in the shield, 13 horizontal bars, 13 arrow heads in one foot, and 13 letters in the words "one quarter dollar."

The next time you get a quarter of the new series turn them up.—Martinsburg World.

The Rev. Isaiah Bauserman, of the State of Ohio, will preach at the Christian church in this place, on next Sunday morning and evening at the usual hour. Public cordially invited to attend.

Just what you want, spring heel rubbers for children and misses, at B. F. Hisey's.

Turkeys seem to be very plentiful throughout the surrounding country. Raffleing matches take place every few nights, and judging from the number of turkeys that our boys have been bringing in we guess they are playing the raffles for their Christmas birds.

Children and misses spring heel rubbers at B. F. Hisey's.

In Washington, D. C. on Thursday, Nov. 3rd, by Rev. Mr. Brown, of that city, Mr. J. Thomas Rothgeb, of Page county, was married to Miss Alice Cooper, of Hawkinstown, this county. Since the above happy event this couple have spent some days with relatives in this place.

Mr. Frank Hockman reached here on Sunday from Washington, D. C., for the purpose of dividing up the fish in the river with the giggers. Frank has come prepared to play sharp on the corner pockets. His big fishing coil is all packed and he can hide a good day's catch in it. Even an eel will have room to travel around without being seen.

It will pay you from 25 to 50 per cent to buy your goods of J. B. Clem.

B. F. Hisey is the shoe man making a specialty of the business. He can give you many advantages.

Miss Annie Spengler died at her home in Taylortown near here, on Sunday morning about 8 o'clock, after a lingering illness of consumption, in her 58th year.

Her remains were taken to Strasburg on Monday for interment. She was a daughter of the late Amos Spengler, and sister of Mrs. R. W. Burke, of this place.

Any one in need of a pair of boots, shoes, suit of clothing or overcoat should go to J. B. Clem's.

Mr. H. E. Boyer, of the well known Boyer Co. firm of this place, left here on Sunday last for Lakeview, Clarke county, Va., to marry Miss Lucy, daughter of Mr. B. F. Humston. On Tuesday, the 15th the ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride, by Elder B. F. Boyer. The couple then took the train at Winchester for Washington and Cincinnati, and will also visit the bride's sister in Kentucky.

J. B. Clem has a nice line of ladies' cloaks, which he will sell cheap to close out.

NEWS FROM ST. LUKE.

I will pen you a few lines from this part of the vineyard.

The Progressive Tinklers closed a week's protracted meeting on Sunday night last, conducted by Revs. Copp and Shaver. Thirteen conversions were the result.

Rev. Mr. Bushong will begin a protracted meeting in the Lutheran church, at this place, next Wednesday night, the 16th. We expect a big turn out of the people.

The different denominations have organized a union prayer meeting at this place, to begin on next Sunday night, at 6 o'clock, and to continue on each Sunday night thereafter. We hope the people will attend these services.

We are sorry to state that Mrs. Annias Coffelt has been lying critically ill from measles for some days, but are glad to say that under the careful treatment of Dr. Smoot she is some better at this writing.

Measles and whooping cough are the topics of conversation with us at present, as there are a good many cases in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Daniel Keller, of Edinburg, Va., is visiting Mr. W. C. Alther at this place. Our new town is growing. One new dwelling just completed, and the large and commodious store house of Mr. W. C. Alther is on the way with five carpenters at work under John H. Wisman contractor. He will have a fine store when completed, and don't you forget it.

Some of our marksmen contemplate a deer hunt in a few days. We will have something about them in our next letter.

LUCKY HIT.

WESLEY CHAPEL ITEMS.

Mrs. Ollie Carrier, who has been employed in Washington, D. C., returned to her home near this place last week.

Miss Lizzie Staunton, one of Green Hill's bright and popular students, is now attending the Edinburg Academy.

Miss Alice Barton, who has been employed at the Willow Grove school, paid her brother William a visit last Sunday.

The measles are spreading terror in this neighborhood again, and they are now raging at the Didawick mansion.

Mr. R. S. Lambert was at Mt. Jackson last Saturday, presumably on business, but of a private nature.

Mr. Cooper Hann butchered two hogs last week which weighed 319 and 376 lbs. respectively. Cooper gets there just the name.

In order to avoid confusion I am under the necessity of making an explanation of last week's items. Mr. J. Bowman has been falsely accused of being the Wesley Chapel correspondent. Please remember hereafter that I am no boy and that I belong to the feminine sex.

We heartily sympathize with President Harrison in his defeat.

PAPA'S LITTLE GIRL.

The freight warehouse belonging to Messrs J. B. Beverley & Bro. of Winchester, was consumed by fire about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. The house contained twenty tons of hay, eight hundred bushels of corn, agricultural implements, lot of lumber, &c., all of which was destroyed. Loss about $2,000; partially insured.

For several years mercantileism has been practiced at this place and all efforts on the part of police and other officers to bring the guilty parties to justice have been half-d. The citizens of the city have concluded to make a thorough investigation at once, and will leave no stone unturned to stop the work and catch all connected.

Parlor Entertainment.

"The King's Daughters" will give an entertainment at the home of Mrs. E. V. Riddleberger, on Monday evening, Nov. 21st, at half-past seven o'clock. Admission, ten cents.

Girls.

HERE IS A LITTLE WELL MEANT ADVICE FOR YOU.

Philadelphia Times.

A word to the wise is sufficient therefore: unto the wise little maiden of the day a short lecture will be all that is necessary to keep them off of the shoals and quicksands of social disaster. Not that they do not know what is right—oh, dear no, they are just as well aware of the correct thing and the incorrect one as is the preacher who pens these lines.

But young girls are so skittish: Like foolish young colts, they simply reel in silly little antics that may seem the purest fun in the world, yet fraught with danger to themselves and to others.

We know what we are talking about, for it isn't such an age ago since we were disposed to do just such things because "it would be such a lark," but thank goodness none of the larks turned out vultures, as they were liable to do, for these innocent escapades sometimes terminate in disaster, endreamed of when entered into as a vent for the superfluous spirit of youth.

Girls, be jolly: have all the fun you can get out of this life, but don't be wild. You can't afford it. A woman's reputation is blasted by one little foolish action—therefore look well to your ways. Do not smoke cigarettes in order to infuse a little air of real wickedness into your girl's gatherings: do not smile at strange men on the street or elsewhere; do not go to places of amusement which you have been forbidden to attend and think the surreptions "peeps through drawn curtains add zest to the performance. The day will come when you will regret such escapades and a blush will mount to the very roots of your hair at the remembrance. Just be sweet, pure womanly girls, never doing anything you would be ashamed to have mother know, or saying anything you would not want mother to hear, and we promise you that men will admire you more, women will trust you more and your own conscience will rest more easily when you are doing these things that seem at the time so delightful because at variance with what you in your kittenish effervescence term your puritanical restrictions.

EXCHANGE NOTES.

Page Courier: The Adventist denomination in this county, we are informed, took no part in the election last Tuesday.

They have become comparatively quite a large and influential denomination, and their course in this instance is due it is said to the position of both the Republican and Democratic parties on the "Sunday Question." They are all in Page, with very rare exceptions, Republicans, but are displeased at Harrison's course in using his influence to close the World's Fair on Sunday.

The revival meeting at Shenandoah City resulted in more than 110 conversions, and nearly 100 joined the U. B. church. The pastor, Rev. G. B. Fudley, is now engaged in a meeting at Naked Creek with the altar nightly crowded with penitents.

Mr. D. E. Almond lost a fine horse last Sunday night. The disease was a very singular one, though Mr. Almond thinks it was punk eye. The horse went stone-blind soon after he was attacked and before he died became as crazy as a June bug—unmanagable.

Charlotteville Advance: We can never tell exactly when we lose our umbrellas. It is singular how gently an umbrella uncouples itself from the tendrils of our hand, and floats into the limby distance of nothingness.

A man who lets his wife split all the wood may mean well, but he shouldn't be allowed to do all the talking at the prayer meeting.
